ATTENTION ACTIVISTS: Big Money-funded progressive organizations keep us busy NOT fighting for what we really want.

Big Money foundations want to trap us in Big Money's cage.

Big Money's mass media hide the fact that what 4 out of 5* people really want is this →

It's a BIG LIE that nobody wants an egalitarian revolution.

* The evidence for this, discussed at PDRBoston.org, is that 4 of 5 people who read the explicitly anticapitalist and pro-egalitarian revolutionary declaration, "This I Believe," sign it.

Attention Activists: If your progressive organization is not advocating what most people want—egalitarian revolution—and you're ok with that because you think doing so would make your cause lose public support, please know that, on the contrary, you would GAIN MORE support by doing so! Big Money doesn't want you to know this. Big Money wants us to remain on the treadmill of defeat, fighting the good fight against injustices (like an absurdly low minimum wage) for ever and ever and ever, without ever solving the Big Problem at the root with the Big Solution it requires—egalitarian revolution.

Good News: We don't need Big Money's $. We outnumber them and can remove the rich from power if we explicitly aim to do so. A mass, popular egalitarian revolutionary movement can win over a critical mass of soldiers to its side and remove the rich from power.

This is why Big Money works so hard to keep us feeling all alone in having the egalitarian revolutionary aspirations that are shared by 80% of Americans.
