

In an egalitarian society the residents of a local community who support equality and mutual aid—and ONLY they—make the laws for their community and decide how to use its resources and what is or isn't reasonable. Larger scale social order and planning is by voluntary federation of local communities.

PDRBoston.org